

state of Wisconsin. The pilot was uninjured. Neither of the two people in the World War II-era Grumman TBM Avenger were injured.

AUGUST 2, 2006 (PALO ALTO, California – USA) - A flight student and her instructor received a scare at the Palo Alto Airport when the landing gear on their plane wasn't locked and collapsed while landing. "The plane bounced a couple of times but no one was hurt," said the deputy chief of operations of the Palo Alto Fire Department. The Flight instructor said the student had performed two successful landings before the incident. Several Palo Alto fire engines responded to the incident. The plane was from a flying school at the airport.

AUGUST 9, 2006 (BRISBANE, Australia) - A firefighter hoses down a Cessna 182's smoldering wreckage after a startled Brisbane homeowner pulled a pilot from the burning plane moments after it crashed into his Brisbane home. The pilot left Archerfield airport headed for his home town of Goondiwindi but trouble struck after 10km. It is believed he was attempting an emergency landing in a nearby park but the Cessna's left wing clipped powerlines, causing it to veer off course. (Picture: Rob MacColl)

AUGUST 14, 2006 (KINCHELOE, Michigan –USA) - National Transportation Safety Board officials were going through the wreckage in an effort to determine the cause of a Piper Aztec plane crash. The twin-engine plane struck the outer perimeter fence at the Chippewa Correctional Facility and burst into flames killing all four on board.

AUGUST 22, 2006 (DONETSK, Russia) - Firemen work at the crash site of the Russian Tupolev Tu-154 plane which was en route from the Russian Black Sea resort of Anapa to St. Petersburg is seen near the Ukrainian city of Donetsk, about 400 miles (640 kilometers) east of Kiev. The passenger jet with at least 170 people aboard crashed in eastern Ukraine just minutes after sending an SOS message, killing all on board, Russian emergency officials said.